

Your Application, Our Recruitment Process & Conditions and Benefits of Employment for Teachers

Applying for a job

Torfaen County Borough Council's Equal Opportunities Policy and Recruitment and Selection code of practice means that we want to ensure that every applicant is treated fairly.

Making an Application

The application form is the only information used when deciding who to select for the next stage of the recruitment process. It is important that you take the opportunity to complete your form as fully and concisely as possible based on the information we have given you about the job.

It is sometimes difficult to determine from the application form how well an applicant meets the criteria which have been identified for successful performance in the job. To make this a more objective process and to assist us in shortlisting it would be helpful if you could bear in mind the following suggestions when completing the application form: -

- the application form is available at www.torfaen.gov.uk for you to either download and e-mail to recruitment@torfaen.gov.uk or to complete and post. It is your responsibility to ensure that the application has been received by us. We suggest you use a read-receipt option if you e-mail the form and contact us urgently if you do not receive a receipt notification after requesting one;
- your application needs to show the relevant skills, interests and experience you have gained;
- give examples of the work you have been involved in and write in a positive way (for example: I was responsible for..... I organised.....). be sure you specify your own responsibilities and not those of your department; and
- each vacancy we advertise is based on a person specification which describes the skills, experience and aptitudes we are looking for. Wherever possible relate your own skills and experiences back to the requirements.

You should remember to relate your application to a specific job every job is different – only submit the same application for a series of jobs if it is appropriate. Do not submit CVs with your application form or make an application using a CV only.

Complete your form and submit it before the closing date to the address detailed in the Job Advert. Late applications may not be considered.

Should you not hear from us within four weeks of the closing date, please assume your application has been unsuccessful.

Recruitment information is available in Welsh

Guaranteed Interview Scheme for Armed Forces Veterans

Helping veterans fulfil their potential outside the Armed Forces

TCBC has introduced a Guaranteed Interview Scheme for armed forces veterans. The scheme supports the pledges in the Community Covenant.

Veterans can find making the transition to civilian life extremely challenging, particularly in finding and securing lasting employment.

The specific aims of the scheme are to:

- assist veterans in overcoming barriers to finding civilian employment
- reduce the risk of veterans having health and welfare problems as a result of long term unemployment
- redress the balance for veterans' re-employment prospects by giving them the chance to improve their transition back into civilian life
- complement the re-employment support provided to veterans leaving the armed forces by the Ministry of Defence
- benefit from the transferrable skills and qualities of veterans

When a veteran applies for a job, they will be able to indicate on the application form their veteran status. A guaranteed interview will be offered to veterans, provided that the veteran:

- is currently serving in the armed forces and is within 12 weeks of their discharge date OR the armed forces were the veterans' last long term employer
- meets the essential criteria for an advertised role

These criteria will be applied so as to create a longer shortlist of candidates than might otherwise arise. No candidate will be displaced from a shortlist by the application of the scheme.

The scheme is not a guaranteed job for veterans. Selection procedures will still ensure the best candidate for the job is appointed, based on objective criteria in the role profile.

The interest paid on loans pays for the running of the Credit Union. Credit Unions are ethical and offer fair, clear terms and low interest rates to all members. Credit Unions help people to manage their money and offer help with debt and money problems.

Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 Treatment of Ex-Offenders

Information for Candidates

Introduction

At Torfaen County Borough Council we aim to promote equality of opportunity for all with the right mix of talent, skills and potential, and welcome applications from a diversity of candidates. Criminal records will only be taken into account for recruitment purposes when they are relevant to the post for which you are applying. Otherwise, consideration for employment will be on merit and ability.

Details of Criminal Records

If the post you are applying for requires ISA Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check you are required to complete section 9 of the application form. If you have a conviction whether spent or unspent you are required to declare that fact in this section however please note that the DBS remove old and minor offences from the criminal record certificates. For those over 18 at the time of the offence the adult conviction will be removed if 11 years have elapsed since the date of the conviction and it was the only offence and it did not result in a custodial sentence. An adult caution will be removed after 6 years have elapsed since the date of the caution. For those under 18 at the time of the offence the same rules apply except the elapsed time period is 5 ½ years for a conviction and 2 years for a caution. Any old minor offences meeting the above criterion would not have to be declared.

Spent Criminal Convictions

The Rehabilitation of Offenders Act (ROA) 1974 sets out to help people who have been convicted of a criminal offence and who have since lived on the right side of the law. In general, a person convicted of a criminal offence and who receives a sentence of no more than two and half years in prison, benefits from the Act if they are not convicted again during a specified period. This period is called the rehabilitation period.

In general terms, the more severe a penalty is, the longer the rehabilitation period. Once a rehabilitation period has expired and no further offending has taken place, a conviction is considered to be 'spent'. Once a conviction has been spent, the convicted person does not have to reveal or admit its existence in most circumstances, including, for example, when applying for a job.

However, there are jobs for which all convictions must be declared on the application form.

What is an 'unspent' conviction?

If you've ever been convicted of an offence for which a sentence of more than 2 and a half years was imposed (regardless of the amount of time you actually spent in prison) this conviction can never become 'spent': It's an 'unspent' conviction which you must disclose when asked about your criminal convictions (such as when applying for a job).

Is this the only time a conviction is 'unspent'?

No. If you were given a sentence of two and half years or less, a conviction may still be unspent. Whether or not depends on the length of time that's elapsed since the date of the conviction. This time is called the rehabilitation period –and it differs according to the type of sentence passed.

Rehabilitation Periods

The following sentences are deemed as never being 'spent' and must be declared regardless of what type of job you are applying for:

- imprisonment for life;
- imprisonment, youth custody, detention in a young offenders institution, or corrective training for a term exceeding 30 months;
- preventive detention;
- detention during Her Majesty's pleasure or for life under s.205(2) or (3) of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1975, or for a term exceeding 30 months passed under s.53 of the Children and Young Persons Act 1993 (young offenders convicted of grave crimes), or under the Act of 1975 (detention of children convicted on indictment), or a corresponding court martial punishment;
- custody for life.

Cautions, reprimands and formal warnings are considered 'spent' immediately they are given. However, for the posts requiring a criminal record disclosure, all spent convictions are required to be disclosed unless they meet the DBS old and minor criterion which are removed from the certificate, the definition is given below:-

For those over 18 at the time of the offence the adult conviction will be removed if 11 years have elapsed since the date of the conviction and it was the only offence and it did not result in a custodial sentence. An adult conviction will be removed after 6 years have elapsed since the date of the caution. For those under 18 at the time of the offence the same rules apply except the elapsed time period is 5 ½ years for a conviction and 2 years for a caution

Having an 'unspent' conviction will not necessarily bar an applicant from employment, this will depend on the circumstances and nature of the offence (s).

The Following List includes sentences which are subject to rehabilitation under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act:

Types of sentence imposed on adults aged 18 years and over at the time	Number of Years (from date of conviction) Before conviction Becomes “Spent”
Imprisonment or detention in a young offender institution (previously known as youth custody) between six months and two and a half years	10 years
Imprisonment or detention in a young offender institution (previously known as youth custody) for six months or less	7 years
A fine or any other sentence for which a different rehabilitation period is not provided (eg, a compensation or community service order, or a probation order received on or after 3 rd February 1995)	5 years
An absolute discharge	6 months

Except an absolute discharge, all periods above are halved if the person convicted was under 18 at the time. If you were under 18 and received a probation order on or after 3 February 1995 the rehabilitation period is two and a half years or until the order expires – whichever is the longer. In the past, there were sentences that could be imposed only on young people.

The rehabilitation periods for sentences like this are as follows:

Type of Sentence imposed on Young People aged Under 18 years at the time	Number of Years (from date of conviction) Before Conviction Become “Spent”
Borstal	7 years
Detention Centre	3 years
An order for custody in a Remand Home or an Approved School Order	1 year after the order expires

Some sentences like this carry variable rehabilitation periods:

Type of Sentence imposed on Young People aged Under 18 years at the time	Number of Years (from date of conviction) Before Conviction Become “Spent”
A probation order received before 3 rd February 1995, a conditional discharge or a bind over	1 year or until the order expires (whichever is the longer)
A care order or supervision order	1 year, or until the order expires (whichever is the longer)
An Attendance Centre order	1 year after the order expires
A Hospital Order (with or without a restriction order)	5 years, or two and a half years after the order expires (whichever is longer)

Assessing the relevance of criminal records

In assessing a candidate's (with a criminal record) suitability for employment, depending on the nature of the job and the details and circumstances of any convictions, the Council will take into account their skills, experience and conviction circumstances and weigh it against the element of risk for the job.

Whilst it may not be possible to carry out a complete assessment on each individual, the Council will ensure that the circumstances of the offence are taken into account when assessing the suitability of an applicant with a criminal record for a vacancy. The assessment will not be taken prior to a job offer being made.

Criminal Disclosure Checks

In addition to you volunteering any information, all appointments to the above posts are subject to a criminal disclosure check, and appointment will only be made upon receipt of a satisfactory disclosure. The DBS disclosure will detail cautions, reprimands and formal warnings, as well as convictions. Other relevant non conviction information may be disclosed by the relevant authorities on your DBS check.

This will also check barring lists for Children and Vulnerable Adults List where requested.

Treatment of Ex-Offenders

In order to ensure the proper use of disclosure information the council has a policy on the recruitment and treatment of ex-offenders. A full copy is available on request from HR Division, Torfaen County Borough Council, Civic Centre, Pontypool, Torfaen, NP4 6YB.
